

CRICKET VICTORIA COVID-19 UPDATE #31 (August 4)

Updated COVID-19 editable plan, FAQs, resources and training numbers

Editable COVID-19 Plan

An important feature of all organisations is to have a COVID-19 plan. Cricket Victoria (“CV”) released an easily editable plan in 2020 and updated this as new requirements were introduced. The latest version of this document (version 5) is now live on the CV website. CV encourage Clubs and Associations to utilise this template for your own plan should you not have an up to date plan already in place. As noted in the document, this should be understood and endorsed by the Committee and promoted widely – including to members, supporters, sponsors and your local council. It should be monitored and reviewed as required.

FAQs

CV has updated a range of FAQs which will help to answer many questions about current restrictions in place &/or provide links to where to find the most up to date information.

Check out this link for access to the FAQs.

COVID-19 resources

Additional COVID-19 resources are being added regularly to the CV website to assist Clubs and Associations – including free downloadable posters, translated documents and other useful links.

Training group numbers

Cricket Victoria has now received confirmation from the State Government that ‘normal’ training group sizes are possible (noting overall density limits of 1:4sqm up to the maximum of 300 people in total). Initially, under the current restrictions in place, the guidance was sticking with group sizes of up to a maximum of 10 per group.

Whilst having smaller group sizes that don’t mingle at training will continue to be the best COVID-19 safe practice (reducing the number of people exposed should a COVID-19 positive person be at training), group sizes can stretch beyond 10 per group.
